March 15- Peter Francisco Day

Researched and Written By Mervyn W. Williamson

March 15 has been proclaimed as Peter Francisco Day by Governor Holton.

Virginia is a bit late in honoring her hero and adopted son, as Massachusetts and Rhode Island, where Peter Francisco never set foot, have had this designation for several years.

March 15 is the anniversary of the Battle of Guildford Court House, North Carolina, where in 1781, Francisco is said to have personally dispatched out of this life at least eleven British soldiers. He probably used a sword five or six feet long that Gen. George Washington made especially for him because an ordinary sword was a mere toy in his hands.

His connection with what is now Appomattox County came much later, however. His third wife, whom he married in 1823 when he was about 50 years old, was Mrs. Mary Beverly Grymes West, widow of Col. Robert West, whose plantation included the farm now known as the "Babcock place" on Route 656 a mile or two north of Route 24.

When Peter Francisco is mentioned, few people remember stories about the legendary Va. strongman and Revolutionary hero.

Fewer know that he spent the last years of his life in what is now Appomattox County.

Peter Francisco is best remembered for his tremendous strength.
